PRESS RELEASE

NEW PARTNERS ANNOUNCED

ROSEVILLE, CA, January 1, 2010: GALLINA LLP continues to expand as three managers are promoted to Partner throughout the firm. The firm announces Carey Cadle in Roseville, David Heier in Novato, and Brent Breckenridge in San Bruno. The new partners assume their roles at the beginning of January 2010. Their reputation for technical excellence and exceptional client satisfaction fit within GALLINA's history of opening doors to our clients' success. As one of California's top 20 CPA firms, GALLINA LLP provides deep industry expertise and team approach to client services that will ensure both the success of the new partners and the success of our clients for many years to come.

The Roseville office announces Carey Cadle as Partner after growing from Senior Staff to Manager with the firm. He graduated Summa Cum Laude from Brigham Young University, which hosts one of the nation's top three accounting programs. He is experienced in a wide variety of industries, but specializes in professional services, healthcare, construction, real estate, and retail. In particular, Carey focuses on the Research and Development tax credits, Energy tax credits, and California Enterprise Zone tax credits.

The Novato office announces David Heier as Partner after serving the firm since 2003. He graduated from California State University, Fullerton with an emphasis in Accounting and Finance while continuing his education by taking courses in income taxes and construction accounting. He provides the firm's Bay Area clients with attestation services, including audit, review and compilation, and tax services.

The San Bruno office announces Brett Breckenridge as Partner after serving as a Manager since 2005. He graduated from the University of Michigan while beginning his public accounting career at a large regional firm in San Francisco. He has internal construction experience with approximately seven years of experience as the controller for a general contractor. He works with clients that range from sole-owner trade subcontractor to large general contractors to work on all tax and accounting issues.

In addition to the three new partners announced this January, the firm welcomed Mr. John L. Callan to the partner group in December 2009. John joins the firm in an effort to further support their dedication to serving construction and related industries. John's extensive experience in the construction industry provides him a deep understanding of the compliance, finance, and taxation needs for those in the industry. Most of his career was at KPMG where he served as Partner and National Director of the Construction Practice. During the last few years, John has been with Aon Construction Industry Group.
